

COUNSELING AND HEALING SERVICES DISCLOSURE

Congratulations on your interest and decision to participate in private coaching, mentoring and/or healing with Lori Morrison. Our work together will include a shared understanding of what you hope to accomplish and agreements for supporting those outcomes. As an intentional and conscious participant in your growth, you will ultimately take all responsibility for and actions related to furthering your transformation, growth and healing on your life's journey.

In my work I utilize my natural ability to move and direct energy and provide intuitive counseling services. I offer a type of energy therapy that has promising mental, spiritual, and physical health benefits but has yet to be fully researched by the Western academic, medical, and psychological communities. The extent of its effectiveness, as well as its risks and benefits, are not fully known. Studies show that energy healing can aid in relaxation, reduce pain and accelerate the rate of healing from injury or disease. It is also possible that complete healing from a specific disease or condition may occur; however, I cannot claim that this will be the case nor can I predict how long it will take for clients to achieve their goals.

You understand that I am not a licensed physician, psychotherapist or other licensed health professional. The information that is provided is often psychic or intuitive in nature and as such is always open to personal interpretation. It should never be construed as a medical diagnosis, consultation or psychiatric treatment. Any methods I use, are considered alternative or complementary to any licensed therapies. I am not a psychotherapist, a registered or licensed counselor or a licensed physician nor are my services licensed by any state. Consequently, energy healing, coaching, mentoring or any other work we do together in your sessions does not provide medical diagnoses nor do they offer cures; they do not replace healthcare from medical professionals. You agree to consult with your healthcare provider for any specific medical problems. If you ever have any concerns about the nature of your sessions, please feel free to discuss them with me.

Please be advised that in our work together you may experience emotional or physical sensations or additional unresolved memories which may surface and could be perceived as negative side effects. It is possible to experience some emotional distress and physical sensations. Emotions may continue to arise after a session and you are encouraged to discuss such emotions with me. You agree to take full responsibility for your self-care in the, emotional, mental, physical, and spiritual dimensions of your life.

ACKNOWLEDGMENT AND CONSENT TO RECEIVE SERVICES

By booking and paying for a session, you agree that I have disclosed to you sufficient information to enable you to decide to undergo or forgo any and all of the services that I offer. You understand that you are freely choosing to take advantage of Energy Healing, Coaching, Mentoring or other services and would otherwise have the option of using conventional psychotherapy or conventional medicine of your choosing. Your consent to this course of treatment is given voluntarily, without coercion, and may be withdrawn.

You represent that you're competent and able to understand the nature and consequences of the proposed Energy Healing, Coaching, and/or Mentoring services. You have read and understand the above disclosure about the healing, coaching and mentoring services offered and agree to be personally responsible for the fees related to the services provided.

By booking and paying for a session you knowingly, voluntarily, and intelligently assume these risks and agree to release, indemnify, hold harmless and defend Lori Morrison and her agents, consultants, and employees from and against any and all claims which you, or your representatives, may have for any loss, damage, or injury arising out of or in connection with my services. By booking this session today this agreement is effective for any and all sessions going forward.
